The Bureau's operations on relocation are centered at [Redacted]. The Director, Mr. Tolson, and other officials and their staffs have space allocated to them at the OEP Classified Location. The basis for this was that the President and the Attorney General would probably be relocated to this site, which would then be the center of Government operations.

Members of the cadres should be able to provide direction of the Bureau programs, such as the Emergency Detention Program (DETPRO) and

By letter dated 11-5-62, Mr. Joseph Wysolmerski, Department of Justice Emergency Planning Officer, furnished a copy of an Office of Emergency Planning (OEP) memorandum dated 10-30-62 which requested Federal departments and agencies to furnish information concerning deficiencies noted during the Cuban crisis and a proposed program for correction. Mr. Wysolmerski requested that this information be furnished to the Department for inclusion in its answer to OEP.

The principal physical deficiency noted was that [redacted] is not a hardened site and does not furnish adequate protection, even from radiation. [redacted] is one of the relocation sites in the Federal Relocation Arc around Washington, D.C., and OEP and its predecessors have tried unsuccessfully to get Congress to provide funds for hardening these sites. b7E

The Defense Readiness Condition (DEFCON) system of alerts, progressing from normal readiness to the point of anticipated attack and expressed in alerts DEFCON 5 through 1, was used. This military system has not been integrated into the defense planning of the civilian agencies. Thus, no system of planned responses has ever been established. The alert in this crisis was a DEFCON 3, which is described as a period of moderate tension. No national plans had been established for this alert, particularly as to relocation. It was necessary for OEP to have each agency select relocation cadres in the event relocation was ordered during this alert. The whole question of the use of this system of alerts and the responses is now under consideration by OEP.

No real difficulty was caused FBI planning because outside of naming special cadres for relocation, no other action was required. The Defense Plans Unit is following with OEP developments concerning adoption of the DEFCON system and any other proposals which might affect Bureau defense planning.

Explains

Emergency Headquarters for SAC

A suggested revised Bureau Chain of Command listing is set out below. In the revised listing, the titles for Mr. Casper and Mr. Gale have each been changed to "Assistant Director." In addition, the name of Edward E. Hargett, SAC of the Cleveland Office, has been substituted for former Pittsburgh SAC Hostetter.

By memorandum L'Allier to Belmont dated 6-15-60, it was recommended, and the Director approved, that each time an SAC in the Chain of Command is transferred, the program be re-evaluated. The assignment of an SAC to the Chain of Command is based on his personal ability to assume command of the Bureau, and his assignment to an office with adequate transportation and communications facilities.

SACs of the New York and Chicago Offices are presently on the Chain of Command. Former SAC Hostetter was on the Chain of Command. To replace him, it is proposed that SAC Edward E. Hargett of Cleveland be added to the Chain of Command. Cleveland, like

EX-117 ACTIONS TO BE TAKEN ON AIR RAID WARNING

REC'D-READING ROOM
FBI
MAY 23 9 53 AM '63

Reference is made to your letter dated May 23, 1963.

Based on a careful analysis, I have concluded that the capability of this Bureau to perform essential emergency functions under the conditions referred to in OEP Circular 9410.2 dated May 13, 1963, is satisfactory. Accordingly, no further action with respect to this OEP Circular is contemplated.

This is furnished in response to your request.

(OEP means Office of Emergency Planning)

NOTE: Dept. requested our report, for incorporation into over-all Dept. reply, to OEP Circular which requires (1) each agency evaluate its capability at both field and SOG to perform essential emergency functions in event of nuclear attack on Washington (or headquarters cities of field offices); and (2) if capability unsatisfactory, designate personnel now who are to undertake immediate relocation on receipt of air raid warning, and furnish OEP number and percentage of such personnel so designated. This proposed relocation means automatic attempt at relocation without regard to circumstances which may exist at the time of attack (relocation whether or not ordered by Director, AG, or President, and whether or not the attempted travel would be a "suicide" operation). Although our plans designate personnel at both SOG and field for relocation, Director's decision as to when to effect relocation will depend upon his judgment in relation to circumstances existing at the time, directives received from AG, President, etc. Our capability to carry on emergency functions in case of nuclear attack on headquarters is based on (1) maintenance of permanent staff at SOG relocation site at [redacted] (2) nation-wide dispersal of field offices with some SACs included in Bureau's Chain of Command; and (3) dispersal of Resident Agencies within field office with Resident Agents included in office chains of command.

By memorandum of January 23, 1963, it was recommended and approved by the Director that Special Agent in Charge (SAC) Hargett of the Cleveland Office be added to the Bureau's Chain of Command. In previous memorandum from L'Allier to Belmont of June 15, 1960, it was recommended and approved by the Director that each time an SAC in the Chain of Command is transferred, the program be re-evaluated. SAC Hargett has been transferred from Cleveland to St. Louis.

The assignment of an SAC to the Chain of Command is based on his ability to assume command of the Bureau and his assignment to an office having adequate transportation and communication facilities. Also, it was felt that of the three SACs in the Chain of Command, two should be in the Midwest. Currently, 13 Bureau officials are assigned to the Chain of Command followed by three SACs; namely, SAC Malone of New York, SAC Johnson of Chicago, and SAC Hargett.

It is proposed that SAC Mason of Cincinnati be added to the Bureau's Chain of Command to replace SAC Hargett. Cincinnati is suitably located, has adequate transportation and communication facilities, and SAC Mason is capable of assuming command of the Bureau.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) That SAC Mason be designated to replace SAC Hargett in the Bureau's Chain of Command.

EX-103

(2) Attached for approval are letters to SACs Mason and Hargett, the Attorney General, and the Office of Emergency Planning, advising of this change.

Letter 1-8-64 from Executive Office of the President, Office of Emergency Planning, points out that National Communications System (NCS) was established by Presidential memorandum 8-21-63 and among its objectives is the capability of meeting priority requirements under emergency or war conditions. Interagency Communications System (ICS) previously established by Office of Emergency Planning (OEP) and now a part of the NCS provides communications among the headquarters emergency relocation sites of Federal departments and agencies. (FBI relocation site at [redacted] is equipped with ICS communications facilities for exchange of information with other agencies' relocation sites in Washington area). Letter states its need to determine requirements and existing arrangements of each agency for emergency communications with field installations and OEP is scheduling conferences for agencies' communications officers on 1-15 and 16 at OEP's relocation site near [redacted]. Letter states that agencies' representatives will be expected to provide information concerning location of agencies' relocation sites, existing and planned emergency communications facilities and agencies' requirements for emergency communications facilities for each emergency relocation site so that studies can be made as to how agencies can be provided communications with their field installations. Letter requests advice as to identities of representatives who will attend.

We have had considerable discussion with officials of the NCS concerning the exemption of our interoffice radio network from that system and it was finally recommended by them that our radio network be excluded. In talking to Brigadier General George P. Sampson, Deputy Director of the Defense Communications System who has handled many of the arrangements involved in setting up the NCS, he pointed out that although our radio system was excluded he felt we should be linked to the NCS in some manner in order to give us access to and the use of the extensive communications facilities of the system in the event our needs exceeded the capacity of our radio network. I mentioned this in my memorandum of 10-18-63 and the Director stated, "I am against it. They want to use FBI's name to get funds and maybe legislation."

We have previously furnished to OEP complete information concerning the location of our various field office relocation sites and descriptions of the communications facilities available in each. This information is set out in the attached document. I feel that our representative at this meeting should merely furnish this information which we have already given OEP and should advise with regard to our requirements for emergency communications facilities for field relocation sites that we believe that our interoffice system plus existing telephone and teletype facilities at various of these sites provide emergency communications and that we have no further requirements in this regard. It should be pointed out that in most of our field relocation sites it is not possible to maintain permanent radio and teletype facilities since these sites are located in schools, libraries, etc. Our plans include arrangements to relocate field office radio equipment to emergency sites when necessary. Although Mr. Louis Wherry, our Communications Manager, normally attends these meetings, I feel in this instance it would be well to have my Number One Man, Frank W. Waikart, accompany Mr. Wherry to insure that our interests are properly protected.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That Liaison Section make the necessary arrangements to secure necessary clearance to have Mr. Waikart and Mr. Wherry attend this meeting.
2. That we furnish information concerning location and equipment of our relocation sites which has already been furnished to OEP.
3. That we advise that our existing emergency relocation site communications are adequate and we have no further requirements.

I think Tavel and Wherry should attend.

66-17381-2803

My memo 1-10-64 pointed out that by letter 1-8-64 Office of Emergency Planning (OEP) requested Bureau representative attend meeting at OEP's relocation site near [redacted] and stated agency representative would be expected to provide information concerning location of agency's relocation sites, existing and planned emergency communications facilities for each such site, and agency's requirements for emergency communications facilities. Letter also pointed out that National Communications System (NCS) was established by Presidential memorandum 8-21-63 and, among its objectives, was capability of meeting priority requirements under emergency or war conditions and that Interagency Communications System (ICS), now a part of NCS, provides communications among headquarters emergency relocation sites of Federal departments and agencies, and study being made to determine existing arrangements and requirements of agencies for emergency communications with their field installations. FBI relocation site at [redacted] is equipped with ICS communications facilities for exchange of information with other agencies' relocation sites in Washington area. The Director approved Mr. Wherry, our Communications Manager, and I attending this meeting and furnishing information concerning the location and equipment of our relocation sites, which we had already furnished to OEP in the past, and, further, that we advise that our existing emergency relocation site communications are adequate and we have no further requirements.

Mr. Wherry and I attended the meeting on 1-15-64 and, after an extensive briefing on the history and present status of implementation of the NCS, it was announced that detailed questionnaires would be distributed to agency representatives present covering their estimated needs in an emergency for telephone, teletype, data, facsimile, and telephone traffic requiring voice-scrambling equipment. The questionnaire on telephone needs is attached and contains questions concerning the location and identity of field offices, other Federal, state and local organizations with which service would be required, priorities needed, peak traffic loads anticipated, average length of calls, number of employees at each relocation site, and existing and planned communications facilities at such sites. It was explained that agency representatives were expected to complete the questionnaires before leaving the conference and telephone and teletype facilities were furnished for them to contact field installations to secure necessary information to do so.

Memo to Mr. Mohr from W. S. Tavel
Re: National Communications System

I pointed out to Mr. Whitfield of OEP, Mr. Oyler of NCS, and Lieutenant Colonel Bruce Cook of ICS, who was in charge of the conference, that the Bureau's ^{b7E} national relocation site at [] is equipped with ICS communications facilities in addition to commercial telephone and teletype facilities and is connected to the Bureau's interoffice radio system; that we would rely on commercial facilities for communications with field relocation sites as long as such facilities survived and would rely on our radio system in the event commercial facilities failed. I stated that the Bureau felt that its means for communicating with field relocation sites are adequate and that we have no additional requirements for emergency communications facilities with such sites beyond those which already exist. I stated, therefore, that it would seem unnecessary for me to execute the questionnaires which would be distributed and that, in any event, I would not be in a position to furnish such detailed information as they had requested without Bureau approval. Colonel Cook requested that I prepare a statement to this effect in lieu of executing the questionnaires and also requested that I leave with him a copy of the information which we had previously furnished OEP concerning the geographical location of our various field office relocation sites and the communications facilities existing therein. I left with him a copy of the attached statement incorporating the Bureau's views as set out above and, since the Director had approved our furnishing information concerning our field relocation sites which had already been furnished to OEP, I left a copy of this information with him. I classified the statement as "~~Secret~~" since it deals with the Bureau's emergency plans and gives information concerning our relocation sites and equipment there to conform with the "~~Secret~~" classification already afforded the information which we had furnished OEP. Colonel Cook agreed that since we would not be filling out the questionnaires, it would be satisfactory for me to return to Washington and not stay for the remainder of the conference which would be occupied entirely with the execution of such questionnaires. He stated that if any additional information was desired from the Bureau, he would contact me at a later date.

I also took occasion to point out to Mr. Oyler and Mr. Robert Miller of OEP that although I had been designated as the point of contact with the Department of Justice for the NCS, that I was attending the meeting solely in my capacity as an FBI representative and was not representing the Department of Justice as a whole. Mr. Miller stated he fully understood this and that he had been in touch with Mr. Wysolmerski of the Department to request that a Department of Justice representative attend but that no one had shown up from the Department.

I received a call this afternoon from Mr. Di Girolamo of the Records Branch of the Department of Justice inquiring concerning the nature of information desired. He stated that since the Justice Department will relocate to the OEP site and does not have a relocation site of its own, he did not know whether any information was desired by ICS from the Department. I told him that questionnaires had been distributed and suggested that he contact Mr. Miller of OEP to secure copies. I told him that although the statement had been made at the meeting that information concerning volume of traffic, points to be contacted, etc., was desired from those agencies which would relocate at the OEP site, that I could not say exactly what information would be desired and he should discuss that with Mr. Miller or an ICS representative,

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has its National Relocation Site located at [] and has designated a relocation site for each of its field offices. The National site is now equipped with ICS equipment and is thus tied into the ICS. It is also equipped with one local and nine commercial foreign exchange direct distance dialing trunks and three 100-word-per-minute commercial direct distance dialing teletype circuits. In addition, it is connected through radioteletype circuits to a control station of the FBI's Nationwide [] Radio Network which interconnects all of the FBI's field offices. The FBI operates its own cryptoequipment (off-line) at [] and at all field offices.

Thus, the FBI can communicate with headquarters emergency relocation sites of other agencies from [] through ICS. It plans to use commercial telephone and teletype facilities already installed at [] to communicate with its field offices if such facilities survive, or by means of its inter-field office radio network if commercial facilities fail.

Since field relocation sites are located in schools, libraries, etc., it is not possible to maintain permanent radio or teletype facilities in most of them, but in several in which space is available and the present owners and occupants are willing, radio equipment has already been installed in addition to radio equipment in the field offices. With respect to the others, detailed plans and arrangements have already been made to transfer radio transmitting and receiving equipment, operators, and cryptoequipment from the field offices to their relocation sites immediately in the event of an emergency requiring the activation of the relocation sites.

The Bureau feels that the equipment at [] including ICS, commercial, and its own radio system, furnishes adequate emergency communications capability between its National Relocation Site and field offices and field relocation sites, and between its field relocation sites. It, therefore, has no additional emergency communications requirements beyond those which already exist.

The 1/7/64, issue of the Bureau Notification Plan continues to list me as the Liaison Supervisor to relocate with the White House in the event of an emergency. In view of the recent Liaison change in which Assistant Director C. D. DeLoach has been designated to handle White House Liaison, the matter of relocation with the White House was discussed with him on 1/24/64.

Mr. DeLoach said that no change should be made because he is scheduled to relocate with the Director and Mr. Tolson and that I should continue to relocate with the White House.

Honorable John W. Macy, Jr.
Chairman
Civil Service Commission
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Macy:

In response to your letter of January 31, 1964, I wish to assure you that this Bureau has for a number of years maintained plans for continuing our essential operations during a national emergency.

In accordance with your request, I am designating Special Agent Bernard A. Wells, who has clearance for access to both top secret and special intelligence information, as a representative to consult with Mr. Kimbell Johnson, Director of your Bureau of Personnel Investigations. I am instructing Mr. Wells to contact Mr. Johnson concerning this matter in the immediate future and I am confident that he can satisfactorily answer any questions which Mr. Johnson may raise.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

Emergency Headquarters For Seat of Government

By the attached letter of January 31, 1964, Civil Service Commission (CSC), Chairman John W. Macy, Jr. indicates that his agency is concerned with the problem of making national agency checks and searches of various files in an emergency situation. He asks that the Bureau designate a representative to discuss the matter with Mr. Kimbell Johnson, Director of the CSC Bureau of Personnel Investigations (an excellent liaison contact). It is apparent that Mr. Macy wants to perfect arrangements under which the Bureau's indices may be checked for CSC during emergency conditions.

The Bureau's defense planning has, from the outset, included plans for our operation in the event of damage to or destruction of our central records. We have for some years been storing at [redacted] microfilms of our essential records and each field office has received instructions under which our records may be reconstituted in [redacted] (or at [redacted] if [redacted] is destroyed). In addition, priorities have been assigned to the various types of records at headquarters under which these will be evacuated, if time permits, in an emergency.

Our planning has emphasized the Bureau's primary responsibilities in an attack situation and stress has been laid on preservation of such vital records as our lists of persons potentially dangerous and who should be apprehended under appropriate orders. Obviously, no one can predict the scope or effect of an enemy attack and we cannot, therefore, make any commitments to CSC or other agencies for the continuation of our name check procedures if the Seat of Government is severely damaged. We can, however, reassure CSC that our planning has been thorough and has embraced various situations which may be encountered. We believe that Liaison Supervisor Bernard A. Wells will be able to explain this to Kimbell Johnson and to determine what specific questions, if any, he may wish to raise with the Bureau.

Memorandum Brennan to Sullivan
Re: CSC DEFENSE PLANS

On May 16, 1955, Kimbell Johnson asked a similiar question of us and was informed that it is not feasible for the Bureau to move all its files to our relocation site in order to be available for file checks by other Government agencies. We told him that as long as possible CSC could check files at our Headquarters and that checks could be made by CSC with local Bureau field offices in an emergency situation. This is still the case.

ACTION:

Attached for approval is a brief response to CSC Chairman Macy advising him Liaison Supervisor Wells will discuss the matter with Kimbell Johnson in accordance with his request.

RELOCATION OF THE DIRECTOR

In the event of a sudden emergency, such as an attack or an order by the President for the relocation of vital Government agencies, our present plans offer the Director a choice between the underground site operated by the Office of Emergency Planning and the Bureau's own relocation site at [redacted]

Special Agents Orrin H. Bartlett and Thomas W. Smith are under instructions, in the event of an emergency during nonbusiness hours, to proceed immediately to the Director's residence in order to assist him. Time is of the essence in such an emergency situation, and it is essential that the men chosen for such a responsible assignment live as close to the Director as possible. SA Smith has just moved to Falls Church, Virginia, so we have reviewed the addresses of Agents who live in the vicinity of the Director's home and have determined that there are two other Bureau Supervisors who live closer to the Director than SA Bartlett. These are SA Charles J. Devic of the Special Investigative Division, who lives at [redacted] and SA John E. Keating of the Domestic Intelligence Division, who lives at [redacted]. We believe that these Agents are in the best position to assist the Director in an emergency situation.

ACTION:

It is recommended that SAs Devic and Keating be designated to carry out this part of the plan for the relocation of the Director.

INTERAGENCY EMERGENCY PLANNING COMMITTEE
MEMORANDUM NO. 23

Reference is made to your memorandum dated April 9, 1964, requesting views and comments regarding Interagency Emergency Planning Committee Memorandum No. 23, dated March 26, 1964, captioned, "Mission and Responsibilities at the Classified Location."

It is the view of this Bureau that the assignment of a permanent or rotating staff from the FBI to the classified site does not appear to be justified at this time.

The proposal concerning a limited advance staff which would relocate upon issuance of DEFCN #3 is feasible, if absolutely necessary; however, due to the heavy requirements placed upon our manpower, it is felt that this proposal is not justified at this time.

It is considered that the relocation complement, approved by the Office of Emergency Planning, to represent the FBI in the event of a full relocation is adequate and it is not necessary to designate additional staff as a supplement.

NOTE:

See memorandum Brennan to Sullivan dated 4/17/64, captioned "BUPLANS-RELOCATION SITE," PFE:mbl. Memorandum classified ~~Secret~~ as IEPC memorandum so classified, and reference is made to classified site.

A request for our views and comments has been received from Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley concerning an Office of Emergency Planning (OEP) draft circular entitled, "Mission and Responsibilities at the Classified Site," distributed to members of the Interagency Emergency Planning Committee (IEPC). The Department is a member of the IEPC. This draft circular describes specific responsibilities, proposed reorganization, and functions at the classified site.

This draft circular makes the following three proposals:

Re: Buplans
Relocation Site

Referral/Consult

Our present plans, as approved by OEP, call for 20 relocatees who will move to the OEP classified site as a relocation staff upon direction of the President or Attorney General. It is believed that this staff is sufficient at this time.

We have learned through contacts with the Department that their position in relation to Proposal #1 will probably be that in absence of a full emergency and a lack of funds, they will not be able to send a staff to the site on a permanent basis. This draft is addressed to the Department, therefore, our comments to the Department should pertain only to the Bureau's planning.

ACTION:

If approved, the attached communication be forwarded to Assistant Attorney General Yeagley indicating the assignment of a permanent or rotating staff for the Bureau to the relocation site does not appear to be justified at this time; a limited advanced staff is feasible if absolutely necessary but due to heavy requirements, it is felt this proposal not justified at this time; considered that relocation complement representing the FBI, as approved by OEP, is adequate; therefore, not necessary to designate additional staff as a supplement.
